

TOWN POLICE WILL RECEIVE $300 PAY HIKE

Gettysburg borough council at its meeting Monday evening in the engine house voted a $300 a year "across the board" pay raise to the town's policemen and named Raymond E. Menges, York St., as a police corporal.

George W. Naugle, chairman of the safety committee, said the salary increases will help "bring the borough's pay scale in line with the pay scale in other nearby communities. Hanover, as an example, pays about $500 a year more per man than we are paying now. Certainly, the increase will not make our police highly paid men, but it will come closer to comparable pay scales."

The recommendation also increases the salary of the probationer from $3,200 to $3,500; regular policeman from $3,600 to $3,900; corporal from $3,800 to $4,100; sergeant from $4,000 to $4,300 and chief from $4,300 to $4,600.

SOME OPPOSITION

The recommended pay boost drew opposition from the finance committee which declared that such increases should have been made before the budget was adopted. John Welshonice, finance chairman, said the police raise will add about $2,400 a year to the budget and that if the highway department workers are increased accordingly "that's about a $7,000 shot." Naugle said the police pay increase was contemplated by his department for inclusion in the overall budget, even though not stated at the time.

Promotion of Menges, who has served 12 years as a borough policeman, to corporal passed 8 to 1. Councilman John Thrush voted against it.

THROUGH STREET

The new pay schedule and corporal appointment are effective April 16.

Councilman Naugle suggested the appointment of a corporal so "there will be one man in charge at all times. The department now has a chief, a sergeant and a corporal."

Approval was given to an or-

VACANCY ON SCHOOL BOARD TO BE FILLED

The Gettysburg Area School Board at its regular April meeting Monday evening at the high school accepted with regret the resignation of Addison R. Durbarow and President Robert H. Deardorff asked Freedom Twp. members to have a name to propose to fill the vacancy at the next meeting of the board.

The next meeting may be a special session later this month to receive the budget for 1962-63. School law requires that the budget be presented in April and adopted finally in May, not less than 20 days after its initial presentation. The joint school district budget will be presented next Monday evening and the area budget will be developed from it.

Dr. Jacob Heikkinen, the first member-at-large of the board from the Gettysburg Area School District, attended Monday's meeting and was given his oath of office by the board secretary, Orville B. Orner. President Deardorff said committee assignments as a result of the Durbarow resignation and the swearing in of the new member will not be made until Durbarow's place is filled.

With neither member of the special committee on the Barriaga bus service request present to make a report, the board postponed action. Two months ago the committee was appointed to get further information about ramifications of the request from Dr. and Mrs. William Barriaga that their children be picked up by a school bus traveling W. Conederate Ave. The Barriaga house

Elmo Smith, Unusually Cool, Executed Monday

BELLEFONTE, Pa. (AP)—Elmo Lee Smith, outwardly calm and collected, died in the state's electric chair at Bellefonte Monday night for the 1959 rape-slaying of a Philadelphia schoolgirl.

Smith, a 41-year-old handyman from Bridgeport, became the 350th criminal to be electrocuted in Pennsylvania since the electric chair was established as a mode of execution in 1915.

Officials at the Rockview State Correctional Institution described Smith as "unusually cool and unemotional" both at the execution and during the day.

He marched the short route from death row to the chair accompanied by the Rev. Kenneth Anderson, a Protestant prison chaplain who chanted the prayer: "Nearer My God to Thee."

BOWS HIS HEAD

Once in the chair, Smith even extended his arms voluntarily to be strapped. Not once did he murmur a word. Just before the end, he bowed his head in silent prayer.

The Rev. Anderson spent most of the day with Smith, chatting and reading passages from the Bible. The prisoner had no other visitors, nor did he write any letters.

He was pronounced dead at 9:04 p.m., two years and three months after the night in December, 1959, when the badly mangled body of little 16-year-old Maryann Mitchell was found on a lonely road in Whitmarsh Twp., Montgomery County.

LOSES APPEALS

Authorities said Maryann had been raped. Her clothing had been torn off and cryptic letters scrawled with lipstick across her exposed flesh.

Smith was convicted of the hideous crime on Sept. 2, 1960. His execution was delayed time after time as Smith's attorneys pursued all avenues of appeal.

But his last hope was shattered last month when the State Pardons Board refused clemency. He was transferred to Rock-

PATRIOTS' DAY SPONSORED BY LEGIONNAIRES

Plans of the American Legion throughout the U.S. to promote a "Bells Across the Nation" program on "Patriots' Day," April 19, were outlined Monday evening at the meeting of the Albert J. Lentz post of the American Legion in its home on Baltimore St.

Commander John Maloney said he will name a committee within the next few days to implement the program locally. Throughout the nation the American Legion is seeking to promote the ringing of bells for a four-minute period starting at 1 p.m. April 19 plus programs in schools and on radio to call attention to "Patriots' Day."

The day is selected because on April 19, 1775, Paul Revere and William Dawes, alerted by the tolling of bells in Boston, rode through the New England countryside to arouse the Minutemen who later that day "fired the shot heard around the world."

CAMP, GOLF PROGRAM

A report by Dr. Frederick Tilberg, chairman of the Keystone Boys Camp committee, showed two applicants are being considered as representatives from the local American Legion to the annual boys' camp conducted by the Pennsylvania American Legion. The two candidates are Clyde R. Root, of the Hoffman Home, and Carl S. Sprigg, Gettysburg R. 2. The local post will send both to the camp if arrangements can be worked out.

Preliminary plans were discussed for participation by a local Legionnaire golfer or golfers in the Department American Legion golf tournament at Hershey July 13 to 15. Members interested were asked to secure entrance blanks from "Department Director of Activities, American Legion" (Continued On Page 5)

Mrs. Henry M. Scharf, regent, will preside.

CONFESSES 6 BURGLARIES HERE IN FEB.

Edwin J. Wright, 29, Delmar, Md., Monday admitted to six burglaries in Gettysburg in February, Sgt. Daniel Miller said today in bringing charges against the man, now a prisoner in the York County jail.

The local policeman interrogated Wright Monday as one of a number of policemen questioning the Maryland resident on burglaries in their communities. According to police, Wright has admitted to 72 burglaries.

Sgt. Miller said he understood that, in addition to being charged with burglaries here and in Hanover, Wright is wanted on charges in Olean, N. Y., Carlisle, Lancaster, Hershey, Sunbury, Williamsport, Bradford and Landisville.

According to Sgt. Miller, Wright told the local officer that he came to Gettysburg by bus on the weekend of February 10-11 and while here entered the Hotel Gettysburg Beauty Salon and secured $12 there; entered the Prudential Life Insurance office and secured $5 plus about $4 in stamps there. He also entered the Robert McCoy insurance office and the Selective Service office in the First National Bank building, the office of Dr. T. V. Leatherman on Chambersburg St., and the Memorial Gardens office in the Plaza building, finding no funds at those places. He forced locks at most places.

WORKED ALONE HERE

With the placing of the charges before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder, detainees were sent to York County to hold Wright for Adams County action later.

Wright and Alfred J. Bowers, 34, Williamsport, were arrested by Hanover police early Friday morning as they were driving away from a service station which had been burglarized.

Sgt. Miller said Bowers had no connection with the Gettysburg burglaries, Wright having been a "loner" in his various burglaries until he met Bowers, and the two combined for burglaries in Hanover.

Leaders Ask Bloodless Solution In Syria Issue

By WEBB MCKINLEY
BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic and a new commander of the pro-U.A.R. army rebellion in northern Syria appealed today for a bloodless solution of Syria's military crisis.

But the rebels declared they were strong enough to win victory.

A statement issued by Nasser's office in Cairo said the president, who lost the Syrian branch of the U.A.R. in a revolt last Sept. 28, is ready to exert every effort aimed at preserving Syria and averting bloodshed.

From the rebel-held Syrian city of Aleppo, 400 miles to the north-east, Col. Luayy Atassi broadcast a call to the military junta running the Damascus government for a truce.

REBEL MONDAY

Atassi announced that he has taken command of the forces in Syria's northern region which rebelled Monday against the junta and called for reunion with the

The Upper Adams School Board at its April meeting at Biglerville Monday evening re-elected Donald B. Hudson as its superintendent, gave preliminary approval to an $819,000 budget for the next school year and tentatively set up the tax program for 1962-63 operations.

The directors indicated their intention to continue the present 55-mill tax rate on real estate.

DONALD B. HUDSON

retain the $10 per capita tax and extend for another year the one per cent tax on real estate transfers.

The only change in the tax structure will be a slash in the levy on occupations from 30 per cent to 15 per cent. The levy will be on the newly-revised occupation assessment list which for most folk raises the assessment.

BUDGET UP $40,000

The $819,000 budget represents an increase of about $40,000 from the budget for the current year. Chief factors in the boost in the budget are the addition of two elementary teaching positions be-

Body Of Soldier Mistakenly Buried In Second World War May Be Missing County PFC

HANOVER, Pa. (AP)—The remains of an American soldier buried 18 years ago in a German-marked grave will be brought home and buried in his native Hanover.

Instead of the German soldier in whose name he was mistakenly buried, the remains have been identified as those of George E. Schue, who was a 19-year-old private first class when listed as missing in action.

Details of the unusual case were disclosed by the soldier's next of kin, a half brother, Ralph W. Copenhaver of Littlestown R. 1.

The soldier's mother, Mrs. Mabel Schue, died May 18, 1961, still not convinced that her son was dead. The father, George Schue, had passed away on March 16, 1953.

Schue was buried in a French cemetery. The discovery was made recently near Metz, France, by a grave detail of a German War Commission.

Schue and two comrades of Co. 3, 10th Infantry, were reported missing Nov. 17, 1944, after they failed to return from an engagement with enemy troops near Metz.

Copenhaver said the positive identification was established after an investigation by the Quartermaster General's Office in Washington.

WILL PLANT FOUR TREES IN L. SQUARE

Approval was given by borough council at its meeting Monday evening in the engine house for the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the town Shade Tree Commission to place four pin oaks in Lincoln Square as part of the current "Campaign Gettysburg" program.

Robert Weiland, Jaycees president, said the trees will be 18 feet high, and have trunks from 3 to 3 1/2 inches in diameter. A 4 1/2-foot square section will be removed from the sidewalk on each quadrant of the square at a point "equidistance from the corners of the quadrant and equidistant from the sidewalk and the building line" to place the trees. Topsoil will be placed in the opening and sand put over it temporarily after the trees are placed. Eventually brick will fill in the area around the trees.

WILL COST $572

Weiland said cost of the trees will be $572 and the Jaycees have already raised half the amount. He urged donations toward the remainder of the cost. The trees must be placed by April 15.

He said pin oaks were chosen because they do not attract birds as much as other trees, and because they retain their leaves much longer than other trees.

Councilman John Thrush asked, "What else can we do for shade trees?"

Council President Glenn Guise said the Shade Tree Commission has the authority to plant the trees and "could request borough workmen to assist."

REMOVE DYING TREES

Mayor William G. Weaver said that the commission had approved removal of all dying trees reported by him and asked the location of other dying trees.

The health committee presented an ordinance banning open fires in the community without a

OPEN CANCER CRUSADE HERE ON WEDNESDAY

The American Cancer Society opens its annual crusade in Adams County on Wednesday with nearly 500 local volunteers soliciting funds to meet the county's goal of $10,500.

Cochairmen Mrs. Guyon Buehler and Richard E. Schultz said the county drive will continue through April.

"While research continues to remain vital in the fight against cancer," Mrs. Buehler reminded Adams Countians today, "the American Cancer Society, through its local unit offices, provides funds for medication, dressings and treatment of our own cancer patients." Last year Adams County had 112 reported cases of cancer, 42 of which received service from the local ACS chapter at the Warner Hospital. The ACS has contributed $97,000 since 1945 to research and has helped train 1,700 physicians and scientists in this field.

41 LEUKEMIA DEATHS

"By the end of 1962," Mr. Schultz said, "about 1,000,000 Americans will be able to say they have been cured of cancer. This is nearly seven times as many people as were cured of this disease 25 years ago." In contrast, however, the ACS estimates that about 87,000 men, women and children will die in 1962 of cancer because they failed to see their doctors in time.

CLUB IS TOLD OF PLANS FOR 1963 PROGRAM

The President of the United States will be invited to Gettysburg in July and November, 1963, for highlights of the centennial celebration of the Battle of Gettysburg and Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, Executive Secretary Richard D. Hunt of the state's anniversary commission told members of the Rotary Club Monday evening at the YWCA.

Explaining that the program now is in process of formation, Hunt told the clubmen that "whatever program is decided upon it will be a credit to the old Keystone state."

The commission secretary said "it is a tremendous responsibility for a small community to undertake the celebration of two great international events," referring to the battle and speech anniversaries.

He said there will be "no re-enactment of the battle" because "to re-enact it you'd have to call out the Army, Navy and Marines."

CITES COMPETITION

He noted, too, that the Gettysburg anniversary celebration will be "in direct competition" with the big celebration planned at Vicksburg in early July, 1963, "and the state of Mississippi has appropriated several hundred thousands of dollars for the centennial celebration."

Hunt said worldwide interest is being evidenced in plans for the centennial observance at Gettysburg. The commission has received letters of inquiry from points as distant as Australia, he

Fairfield Plans Spring Cleanup

Saturday, May 5, will be "spring cleanup day" in Fairfield, it was decided by the borough council at its April meeting Monday evening at the Fairfield bank building. Mayor Kenneth W. Sanders was instructed to employ a man to do the cleanup work.

President Thomas L. Newman presided at Monday's meeting with councilmen and Mayor Sanders in attendance.

Howard M. Lum, manager of a Chambersburg insurance agency, explained workmen's compensation and employer's liability insurance to the councilmen. Council directed that calcium and grit accumulations from the snow removal programs on Main St. be cleared away. New chairs were ordered for the council room.

The councilmen also discussed street and alley improvement work for the coming season. Bills totaling $589.74 were ordered paid.

WOULD CHANGE SOME TRAFFIC CONTROL HERE

Three suggestions for better traffic control were made to borough council at its meeting Monday evening in the engine house by the Gettysburg Planning Commission.

Kenneth Johns, of the commission, in introducing H. C. Bennett, Harrisburg engineer retained by the commission, said his group had decided to have the engineer "rather than wait until we have finished all our work, so you may know that something is being done and more importantly to ascertain what you think of the ideas and whether we should pursue this type of work."

Bennett said his preliminary studies are based on alleviating hazardous conditions. A traffic check at Carlisle St and Lincoln Ave. shows traffic at that intersection increasing by "four percent or more per year." Bennett said, "thus creating new problems."

He suggested that a larger radius be provided at the intersection for trucks by cutting back the curb, banning parking near the intersection and marking lanes on the highway.

At the Chambersburg St., West St., Springs Ave., Buford Ave. intersection he recommended moving the traffic lights, providing a three phase system so traffic could "come out from West

CONSIDER PAID FIRE MARSHAL IN THIS COUNTY

As a sixth class county, Adams now is eligible to have a paid fire marshal and an investigation of that possibility was ordered at the April meeting of the Adams County Firemen's Association Monday evening at the Kingsdale Fire Hall. Ninety delegates from 19 of the 25 member companies attended. Vice President Melvin Eisenhart of East Berlin presided.

The meeting opened with invocation by the chaplain, and the address of welcome was given by Ralph Copenhaver, immediate past president of the host company. Donald Sneeringer, secretary, reported.

A letter was read from the Hampden Fire Company, Reading, stating they will attend parades with their drill team. It was announced that the Pennsylvania State Firemen's convention will be held in Norristown on October 4, 5 and 6, and that the Pennsylvania State Fire School sessions in Lewistown will be held from August 13 to 17. Resident courses are also available from April to October and a special radiation safety school will be held from April 23 to 27 with an instructor from the United States Atomic Commission.

REPORTS PRESENTED

In the interests of securing a fire safety commission in the state and in bringing the fire laws of the state up to date, the secretary was authorized to write to the county aspirants to the General Assembly in the coming election, requesting their support of such legislation.

Seven death benefits were paid to survivors since the last meeting. Reports were heard from representatives of the Adams County Fire Chiefs' Association, the Fire Police and Civil Defense, Eugene Murren, McSherrystown, reported for the fire chiefs, covering the progress on the radio changeover and noting that there is a law in the state forbidding the use of the flashing red light on fire trucks, when returning from a fire. State police may arrest an offender of this law.

Paul Rabine, New Oxford, reported for the Fire Police Association, of which he is president, that 62 fire police completed the course at the fire police school held recently.

URGE JUNIOR UNITS

Roger Myers, Fairfield, assistant Civil Defense director in the county, spoke concerning the Quick Call System. He said 11 companies in Upper Adams County are entirely dependent on this system and all other companies use it for multiple calls. Attempts are being made by the Upper Adams companies to secure a recorder, which will record all calls and can be played back in case of a misunderstanding about the exact location of a fire. Emmitsburg and Pennville have joined the Quick Call System, he said.

The guard was informed, Capt. Donald Doersom announced, that until enlistments are reopened, the only way a new man can enter is to replace men transferred or discharged. He urged young men interested in the guard to visit the armory and place their names on a waiting list so they will have the opportunity to be among the first to join when vacancies occur.

Capt. Doersom also announced that Maj. Edward R. Remisewski, commandant of the Pennsylvania Army National Guard Officer Candidate School, will speak to the local guard April 11 at 8 p.m. at the local armory. His presentation will include movies of officer training.

cer Society, said. "More funds are needed to give people life-saving facts about cancer and to keep physicians informed of latest methods of diagnosing and treating cancer. We must support scientists in their search for cures for all types of cancer, including leukemia." Leukemia has taken the lives of 41 Adams Countians in the last 13 years.

Mrs. Henrietta Blocher, executive director of the Adams County Institute of ACS, said 45 per cent of last year's $9,100 crusade funds remained in the county for treatment and assistance of 42 medically indigent patients. The fund is available to cancer patients referred by their physicians for assistance. She emphasized that free dressings, hospital beds and other sickroom equipment are ready at all times for any cancer patient requesting such help.

Sixty cents of every dollar raised in Adams County this year will remain in the county for direct assistance, Mr. Schultz said. Of the 40 per cent which goes to the national crusade, the largest amount will go into cancer research in an attempt to discover what causes cancer, new ways to cure and prevent it, he said.

Six films on the detection and treatment of cancer are available for public showing at the Adams County Unit of the American Cancer Society. Mrs. Blocher, executive director, announced today. The ACS office is located in the basement of the Annie M. Warner Hospital.

LIZ AND EDDIE END MARRIAGE AFTER 3 YEARS

By PIERCE LEHMBECK

NEW YORK (AP)—Rumor has become fact. The three-year marriage of Elizabeth Taylor and Eddie Fisher is broken, and they will obtain a divorce to make the split permanent.

The world got the news through a crisp, businesslike announcement Monday night by Louis Nizer, an attorney famed for handling major divorces of the past, hours after the beautiful Liz had summoned him to Rome.

"Elizabeth and Eddie Fisher announce that they have mutually agreed to part," the announcement said. "Divorce proceedings will be instituted soon."

HAS WIFE, KIDDIES
The announcement brought crashing down a mountain of suspense built up in recent weeks by Miss Taylor's interest in her "Cleopatra" costar Richard Burton, and Fisher's desperation in denying that a break was imminent.

Now there remain other suspenseful questions: will Burton, 36, become the 30-year-old actress' fifth husband? What of his wife, Sybil, and their two children, now sitting in seclusion in London?

There were reports that Mrs. Burton would fight any divorce action by her husband, and that she had pleaded with him through mutual intimates to give up Elizabeth.

PUBLIC ESCORTING
Burton, British actor who as Marc Antony makes love to Miss Taylor in her film role of Cleopatra, has been openly escorting her in public during filming of the epic of the Nile.

Fisher, 33, appeared resigned to the breakup as he left for a Broadway show shortly before Nizer read the long-anticipated announcement, approved in ad-permit. The ordinance authorized use of outdoor fires in fireplaces, charcoal burners, etc. for cooking; provided for a permit at $5 per 24 hours, for burning building materials etc., under supervision and for a permanent permit at $25 a year for burning "classified and confidential papers in an approved incinerator." It provides fines of "not more than $25" or imprisonment "for not more than 10 days" for violation of the ordinance.

Thrush opposed the ordinance saying "we should have an ordinance meeting specific problems. We are opposed to garbage burning and to burning of noxious materials and the ordinance should be specific." The health committee withdrew its proposed ordinance and promised to submit a new one next month.

Council approved expenditure of "up to $600" by the property committee to replace the engine on the rescue truck which broke down at a recent fire.

cause of rising enrollment, the state-mandated increases in teachers' salaries and the rental payments on the four-room addition to the Biglerville Elementary School currently under construction.

Superintendent Hudson was elected for his first full four-year term in his present position. He has been superintendent for the last three years, following the formation of a third class district after the merger of Upper Adams districts. With no other candidates, the Hudson re-election was a formality.

ACCEPT RESIGNATION

The board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Jean Walsh as an elementary teacher at the Bendersville school, effective at the end of the current school year.

Several property committee recommendations were adopted by the board. The Upper Adams School Authority will be asked to advertise for choral and band risers for the high school stage.

The board also voted to have some duct work done in the old part of the junior high school building at a cost of about $385 to meet fire insurance requirements and gain an annual premium reduction of about $100.

On recommendation of the teacher committee, Superintendent Hudson was granted permission to attend the secondary school administrators' conference later this month at Buck Hill Falls and Donald Ernst was given permission to attend a driver education conference soon at Hershey.

The board entered into a three-year contract with the Peterson penmanship company for instruction in the elementary grades. The cost to the school system is $80 per month.

BUDGET FIGURE AVAILABLE
The directors took action to advertise the new school budget and to announce it will be open for public inspection at the office of the business manager until it comes up for final adoption next month.

The contract for art supplies was awarded to the J. L. Hammett Company at their low bid of $1,150. The other bidder was Kurtz Brothers.

Bids for athletic supplies were opened but referred to a committee for study and for awarding to the lowest responsible bidder.

The board directed that bids be advertised for coal supplies for some of the school buildings.

The monthly report of the treasurer, Kenneth Alwine, showed an April 1 general fund balance of $106,000. Bills totaling $43,000 were approved for payment Monday evening.

Leaders Ask

(Continued From Page 1), rebel radio said "planes of secessionists"—meaning the air force of the high command in Damascus—were trying to bomb the Aleppo transmitter, 40 miles south of that city. The speaker appealed to the U.A.R. to send planes and paratroops to help the rebels.

Atassi canceled the appeal. "We ask our Egyptian brethren to be patient and postpone now sending any reinforcements because our military position is strong and we can resist until victory," Atassi said.

Nasser's subsequent statement in Cairo was pegged to the air raid story.

The statement said Nasser is prepared to take a hand if the parties concerned in Damascus, Aleppo and other civilian and military commands agree.

Today's Talk

ON LOSING

Perhaps the greatest test of character that comes to a human being is when he or she comes face to face with loss.

It is difficult to face full-grown success, but every element of the soul is called upon to combat loss.

One thing must be understood — loss is not failure. Men or women can only fail in their hearts.

Often a man's greatest success comes about upon the heels of his greatest failure, his greatest loss. It is hard to go through this loss, but is there anything easy that is worthwhile?

To lose gracefully is the finest evidence of a real man or woman.

I have been talking about material losses. A loss infinitely more serious and well nigh irreparable, is to lose confidence in yourself, or in others. Somehow, if we would rise above the ordinary average of achievement, we must have great faith in ourselves. We cannot afford to get careless.

How many instances there are where all that a man owned has been wiped out almost overnight, but where the man wasn't wiped out.

Just consider what would have been the effect upon American letters had Mark Twain been wiped out when his great publishing house failed with all that he owned.

Stephen Crane tramped the streets of New York City, cold and hungry, trying to find a publisher for his "Red Badge of Courage." Hamlin Garland gave him the $15 he needed to complete the payment he had already made, just to get it typewritten. And it was through the aid of Garland that this great classic finally was published. Stephen Crane knew what it was to lose before winning.

Winning has no meaning without its background of loss.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Incessant Talker."

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Mont Alto Sanitarium: The new children's building at the State Tuberculosis Sanitarium at Mont Alto was opened Tuesday and preparations have been made to receive one hundred children who are arriving from all sections of the state. They are all under fourteen years of age. With the enlargement of its bed capacity which the new building offers, Mont Alto has become the world's largest sanitarium for the treatment of tuberculosis.

Town Council: Residents of North Washington Street and vicinity petitioned Town Council at its meeting Tuesday evening for a gas or electric light at the middle of the second block on that street. A request was received from J. A. Ring for permission to build a porch at his hotel extending out almost to the 11-foot pavement line on the square. The highway committee was instructed to investigate the matter and report. The condition of the alley between the George Stock property and the Peoples Cash Store on Baltimore St. was again brought to the attention of council and the secretary instructed to send notices to the parties offending to remove the ashes and discontinue the practice of obstructing that thoroughfare, the police to ascertain the names of offenders and report them to the secretary. Mr. Codori reported that a drag had been used successfully on various streets of town about twenty blocks being covered at a cost of $4.00. Two horses were used part of the time and three horses the balance.

Miss Annie Danner of Center Square is visiting at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Charles Reinwald in Emmitsburg.

Mrs. Beard, North Washington St., was presented with several handsome pieces of cut glass by the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity for whom she has kept a boarding house for the past ten years.

Milk is selling at two cents a quart in East Berlin following competition among the three dairymen who serve the citizens of that town. A regular price cutting war started last Friday and has been continued until the unprecedented low figure was reached. The dealers are Messrs. Simpson, Spangler and Burgard.

John Raymond has opened his new restaurant in the Stock building on Chambersburg St. The room is furnished in furniture of the early English style and presents a very attractive appearance. On Saturday evening all patrons were given complimentary a plate of ice-cream and a glass of Cherry Cheer.

First Services: With the largest Sunday School in the history of the congregation and the largest attendance at a church service, the St. James Lutheran congregation on Sunday entered their new building at the corner of York and Stratton streets. An attendance of 529 was registered at the Sunday School service. One of the most remarkable features of this service was the organization of a men's Bible class which started with a membership of one hundred. Rev. J. B. Baker will teach the class.

At the morning church service forty eight members were received into the church, half by confirmation and half by letter. Edgar Miller and Walter Johns conveyed by automobile all the older members of the congregation who were not able to walk. The evening church service drew an attendance of eight hundred. It was the Easter service of the Sunday School. Though only the rear portion of the edifice is ready for use it was a day of rejoicing

THE DREADED MINUTE

Brave men have fears at times,
I know,
And suffer quaking knees,
When face to face they meet a foe.
In time of danger brave men show
The sturdiness of trees.
And yet, when calling on his girl
The brave man trembles so,
If suddenly there comes a call
Resounding from the upper hall:
"Why don't you let him go?"

He may not fear the lion's roar,
Nor dread a savage beast;
In dead of night a sudden noise
May not disturb his mental poise
Nor scare him in the least.
But clinging in a fond embrace,
If there should come this shout
(He'll quickly drop his little dear, Reach for his hat, and run in fear):
"Pray turn that fellow out!"

The time must come to every man
When fear his wife's enthrall;
But there's no danger that compares
With that which thunders down the stairs
And ends a pleasant call.
Brave though he be, he trembles then
And fearfully takes flight,
When father leaves his peaceful bed
And shouts these words from overhead:
"Think you he'll stay all night?"

At least a carload of dirt rolled in upon him. Mr. Hemler was taken to his home on West High St. where he is resting as comfortably as may be expected. ## THE OBSESSED BOY

"There came to him a certain man, kneeling down to him, and saying, Lord, have mercy on my son: for he is lunatick, and sore vexed . . ."

—Matthew XVII:14-15

Because Scripture refers to this unfortunate boy as a "lunatick," some modern writers have asserted that the child was merely afflicted with epilepsy.

They argue that in Greek usage the term (meaning to be moonstruck) was commonly applied to that disease. However, the New Testament account is unequivocal in stating that the boy was possessed by an unclean spirit:

"He rebuked the foul spirit, saying unto him, Thou dumb and deaf spirit, I charge thee, come out of him and enter no more into him."

"And the spirit cried and rent him sore, and came out of him: and he was as one dead; insomuch that many said, He is dead."

The child's father had previously brought the boy to Jesus' disciples to be healed, but they were unable to cure him. "I spake to thy disciples that they should cast him out; and they could not."

From the description of the boy's symptoms, related by the father, we know that he was not only given to seizures in which he foamed at the mouth, but that he was deaf and dumb. During his attacks, he often endangered his own life by falling into the fire or into the river or lake.

Mark, in his Gospel, points out that it was the father's faith which made it possible for his son to be healed. "Jesus said unto him, If thou canst believe, all things are possible to him that believeth."

And in response to Jesus, the boy's father cried out, with tears in his eyes:

"Lord, I believe; help thou my unbelief."

The result of this father's humble, but powerful faith, was the expulsion of the evil that controlled his son.

Was such a cure merely evidence of the healer's art, or was it the will of God that banished demons?

For those who believe that Scripture is true, Jesus that day commanded a "foul spirit" to come out of a child, "and the child was cured from that very hour."

FILE SUIT IN REDISTRICTING

HARRISBURG (AP)—Two Montgomery County Democrats, both candidates in the May 15 primary, went to Commonwealth Court Monday in an effort to force legislative reapportionment in their area.

It marked the second time redistricting petitions were put before the state court since the U.S. Supreme Court ruled last week that federal courts have jurisdiction over state apportionment problems.

Monday's complaints were brought by Lee F. Driscoll Jr. of Lower Gwynedd Twp., a candidate for Congress, and Marshall J. Seidman of Oreland, a candidate for state representative.

The pair, appearing as private citizens, challenged the constitutionality of Pennsylvania's apportionment act for both the state Senate and House.

They contended that Montgomery County should have nine state representatives instead of the six it now has. Seidman also called for an increase in the number of state senators in the county from one to two. The two candidates based their challenges on the 1960 U.S. census.

Driscoll also asked the court to stop all elections in the county until reapportionment is completed.

Just last Friday, a political watchdog group, known as Philadelphia's Committee of 70, filed a similar suit with the state court, asking for elections at large or reapportionment in the Philadelphia area.

The court has taken all three suits under consideration.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Post Office Department has doubled the amount of increase in parcel post rates it is asking the Interstate Commerce Commission to approve.

The new request, submitted Monday, would raise parcel post rates 12 per cent instead of the 6 per cent requested last January. Postmaster General J. Edgar Ward, noting that the law requires revenues to be within 4 per cent of the cost of service, said the department is losing about $122 million a year on present parcel post rates.

Pennsylvania Has Big Beer Drinkers

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Pennsylvania has one of the highest per capita beer consumption rates in the nation, according to the executive director of the Malt Beverage Distributors Association.

Arthur B. Olan told the association's convention Monday that the state's per capita consumption of 19.2 gallons a year ranks Pennsylvania third or fourth in the nation.

However, consumption is off in many areas of unemployment.

"Everything affects the beer business," said one distributor who did not want to be identified. As soon as there's a strike, unemployment or a price increase beer sales are affected."

The beer business is off around 20 per cent throughout most of the state," said Anthony Gimo, an Altoona distributor.

Diplomats Have No Easy Task

BERLIN (AP)—Being a diplomat for Communist East Germany is no easy job, says an unofficial West Berlin intelligence agency.

Information Bureau West said a member of the East German trade mission in Cairo decided he couldn't take it any more and defected.

Anyone who wants to spend more than two hours outside his home after 8 p.m. must notify the mission chief.

Mayor And City At Odds Over Ticket

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The city of Philadelphia has tagged Pittsburgh Mayor Joseph M. Barr for an alleged traffic violation on March 8.

Mayor Barr received the tag Monday. But he said he wasn't even close to Philadelphia on March 8—he was vacationing in Florida.

Furthermore, the mayor said his private car was locked in the family garage and his city limousine was in the city garage.

He must pay an $8 fine plus costs or appear at a hearing next Monday.

MILLIONS OF BONDS BURNED ALMOST DAILY

By RICHARD H. HOENIG
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Lots of people figuratively burn up money. Russell W. Goble makes an occupation out of it.

For him it's just part of a day's work to set fire to securities valued at $10 million, $20 million or even $30 million. Of course, they have all been canceled and carefully checked before the torch is applied.

For two years the 50-year-old Goble has done the crematorium work for the Chase Manhattan Bank. And he never has lost a night's sleep over the thought of paper once worth so much going up in flames.

What's his reaction? "Well, it gets pretty hot up there when you're burning," he said. "Anyhow it's a detail, a job to be done and I guess I'm over-seeing of it at this end."

Banks are careful about destroying canceled securities because if they fall into unauthorized hands they could cause the issuing party untold administrative troubles.

Just about every week a collection of the carefully checked, canceled securities is loaded into padded steel trunks and taken to the Chase Manhattan's new office building in the financial district. They are whisked non-stop to the 61st floor by elevator.

Electric shredding machines chop the securities into bits and hurl the pieces into a special furnace.

3 WITNESSES

When the furnace is full Goble, a veteran of 34 years service with the bank calmly sets fire to a whole bond-value $100,000, perhaps—and tosses it into the shredded securities. A gas burner in the rear of the furnace makes sure every bit of paper is consumed. A wire mesh screen covers the flue to prevent ashes from escaping.

Besides Goble, two bank porters and an authorized witness watch the cremation.

"We generally figure about one hour for each of the trunks and when it's a four-hour job it sure gets hot," Goble said.

Incidentally, Goble observes: "I've never owned a bond except for government savings bonds."

Dog Food Chain Is Sued By Kennels

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A Pittsburgh dog food supplier has been blamed in a $25,000 suit for the failure of some New York show dogs to win awards.

Best Feeds and Farm Supplies was named Monday in a suit filed in U. S. District Court by Elbow Kennels of Monroe, N. Y.

Elbow Kennels claims it purchased a supply of dog food from the Pittsburgh firm last year but that the food did not provide a balanced diet for the kennel's dogs.

The suit contends that because of this litter of new born puppies died and show dogs did not win any awards.

Couples To Rent Building To P.O.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Post Office Department has announced that a contract for construction of a post office in Manahawkin, N.J., has been awarded to two Pennsylvania couples.

Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., was advised by the department Monday that the post office would be built on Stafford Avenue, Manahawkin, under a contract awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Dale Reese and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sprinkle, all of Upper Darby, Pa.

The building will be leased by the department for 10 years at $3,639 annually.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Alfonso Ryan's sweet tooth helped put him back in jail Monday, just two hours after he completed a 23-month sentence.

Police said Ryan, 21, left the Allegheny County Workhouse at 9:30 a. m. He was arrested on a street in the city's North Side section two hours later after robbing a small store of $5 and two candy bars, police said.

Go-go Is Put Back Into White Sox; Win 6th In Row

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

They're put the go-go back in Chicago's White Sox.

The patented peck-away-at-'em attack is lifting eyebrows along baseball's exhibition trail, where the White Sox have reeled off six consecutive victories—the latest a 5-1 triumph over Kansas City at Sarasota Monday.

Outside contenders for the American League throne room, the White Sox could unlock the door with a successful combination of their pesky hitting habits and tight pitching performances.

Rookie Joel Horlen, promoted from San Diego after posting a 12-9 record with a sparkling 2.51 earned run average, took care of the pitching end against the A's. The 24-year-old right-hander went six hitless innings before being touched for a lone run.

HOMER POWER

The hitters continued their exploits without the aid of the home run weapon, stroking nine hits to win it. The White Sox now have scored 44 runs on 64 hits in their six games—with only two bases-empty homers in the output.

The Sox pushed across three runs in the second on four hits, including doubles by Mike Hershberger and Jim Landis, then added two more in the fifth on a double by Gerry McNeerthy and singles by Luis Aparicio and Nellie Fox.

The victory gave the White Sox a 14-8 record, right behind the New York Yankees in the American League standings. The world champions boosted their mark to 15-7 by defeating Minnesota 9-6 at Orlando.

TAKE NL LEAD

Houston clinched the cactus league championship among those teams training in Arizona and California and also moved into the top spot in the NL standings with a 14-7 record by dowing Milwaukee 8-3 at Apache Junction.

In other games, Cincinnati beat the New York Mets 5-2 at St. Petersburg, the Angels edged the Dodgers 6-5 at Palm Springs in the first meeting between the Los Angeles clubs, Boston bopped Cleveland 5-3 at Scottsdale, St. Louis whipped Philadelphia 7-3 at Clearwater and Baltimore took care of Pittsburgh 7-1 in a night game at Miami.

The A's got to Iliorin in the seventh for two hits, triples by Bobby Del Greco and Norm Siebern, for their only run. Turk Lown completed a three-hit. The Yankees used a two-run double by Hector Lopez and an RBI single by Joe Pepitone in the ninth to beat the Twins after Roger Maris' homer built an early lead.

EDWARDS GIVES POWER

Dick Farrell and Bob Tiefenauer spaced nine Braves' hits while the Colts went ahead to stay with a four-run outburst in the third on four hits, including Bob Aspromonte's double. Bob Purkey became the first Reds' pitcher to go nine, checking the Mets on four hits. Batterymate Johnny Edwards provided the power with two homers and a single for three RBI.

The Angels tied the Dodgers in the eighth on Albie Pearson's three-run homer and won it in the ninth when Joe Koppe drove in Leon Wagner with a single. LA Clinton stroked a pinch-hit RBI single in the seventh as the Red Sox went in front, then reliever Bill Monbouquette protected the edge against the Indians.

A four-run spurt in the first inning gave the Cards enough to whip the Phils behind the six-hit pitching of Ray Saadecki and Curt Simmons. The Orioles' Billy Hurt gave up six hits and the Pirates' Bob Friend eight as both went nine innings. Shortstop Ron Hansen, on leave from the Army, stroked a two-run single in the second for the runs Baltimore needed.

Denver Broncos Get New Coach

DENVER (AP)—The Denver Broncos, rebuilding under a new coach, have signed 235-pound Jim Fraser, a linebacker specialist who formerly played for the University of Wisconsin and the San Diego Chargers.

Coach Jack Faulkner of the American Football League said the 6-2 Wynnewood, Pa., product was signed as a free agent.

EDDIE ARCARO TO ANNOUNCE RETIREMENT

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Jockey Eddie Arcaro has an announcement to make today—and it might be that he's ready to call it quits after 30 years that have brought him fame and fortune on the nation's race tracks.

Call him Banana Nose, the Maestro, or his real name, George Edward Arcaro. But most horsemen will agree Arcaro is the greatest money rider the sport has ever seen.

Eddie rode his last race in the United States last Nov. 13 at Aqueduct. Then he and his wife, Ruth, left on the longest voluntary vacation he has had since he won his first race at Agua Caliente, Mexico, Jan. 1, 1932.

TO ANNOUNCE PLAN

Arcaro has invited friends to a midtown bistro late today, where an announcement of his plan is expected. He may decide he's had it, and hang up his tack. Some believe he has another business connection.

Or, it may be he is getting ready to ease off at the end of the season. Arcaro has had no trouble calling his shots—in the last 20 years at least.

In recent years since the influx of $100,000 races, Arcaro has been taking his share of the big ones. His income is upwards of $150,000 annually.

Arcaro has ridden 24,056 horses, winning 4,779 races with purses of $30,049,313. He has been the world's leading money-winning rider six seasons since 1940.

No other jockey has ridden five Kentucky Derby winners, six Belmont and six Preakness Stakes.

TOP TEAMS TO BE TELEVISED

NEW YORK (AP)—Games involving seven members of the 1961 Associated Press Top Ten plus Notre Dame, Army, Navy and Air Force are included in the 1962 NCAA college football television schedule announced Monday night by the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Thirty-seven schools are represented in the schedule, which begins Sept. 15 and ends Dec. 8. There will be 14 television dates, nine for national television and five for regional telecasts. Three games are listed on each of the so-called "regional" Saturdays.

OTHER GAMES

The schedule, which begins with Miami at Pitt, includes an appearance for Alabama, top-ranked in the final 1961 AP football poll, as well as these other powers from last season—Ohio State, No. 2, Texas, No. 3, LSU No. 4, Minnesota, No. 6, Michigan State No. 8, and Utah State No. 10.

The national schedule begins with Miami at Pitt Sept. 15. The regional schedule includes Penn State at Army Oct. 13 and Notre Dame vs. Navy at Philadelphia, Nov. 3.

PRESIDENT VISITS SENATE

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy paid a surprise visit to the Senate, and found things just about as they were when he gave up his seat there to enter the White House.

The former senator from Massachusetts stepped into the Senate chamber Monday for the first time since taking office as president.

Sens. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., and Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., were debating terms of a federal irrigation project in California. Four other senators were on hand. The spectator and press galleries were almost empty.

"That's the way it was when I left the Senate," Kennedy told Morse, in an apparent reference to the almost deserted chamber.

Kennedy dropped in first at an informal reception given by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana to inaugurate a fancy new conference room in the Capitol's east wing.

While the Mansfield reception was going, with two bars and a table loaded with food, Morse was calling in a Senate speech for a ban on serving hard liquor in the Capitol.

Kennedy didn't take a drink at the reception.

Webster began his newspaper career in Chicago and had worked for papers in St. Louis, Louisville and Arkansas. He was born in Benton, Ill.

Keegan Pitches Better For Phils

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies feel right-hander Eddie Keegan has what it takes to be a winning pitcher.

Keegan worked four innings Monday and gave up only one run in a 7-3 exhibition loss to St. Louis.

"Keegan gets better every time he goes out there," said pitching coach Al Widmar. "He's still not throwing as good as he can. Yet he was firing good enough for those bi league bats in the Cardinals' lineup."

RAMOS TRADED FOR V. POWER

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—The Cleveland Indians, who had been inactive in the trading market since Frank Lane left the wigwam, now have made two big deals since the end of the 1961 baseball season—both for veteran pitchers.

The latest deal, announced Monday, sent first baseman Vic Power and southpaw pitcher Dick Stigman to the Minnesota Twins in exchange for Pedro Ramos.

Last October, Cleveland General Manager Gabe Paul dealt outfielder Jimmy Piersall to the Washington Senators for pitcher Dick Donovan and infielders Gene Green and Jim Mahoney.

NOT FINISHED

"We're not finished looking for pitchers and we're going to do everything possible to get another good one," Paul said.

To get Ramos, a sorely needed starting pitcher, who will be 27 this month, Cleveland gave up one of the game's greatest fielding first basemen—the 30-year-old Power, Stigman, 26, was selected for the American League's all-star team in 1960, but has compiled only a 7-16 record in two seasons. He has had arm troubles.

Ramos, who has been in the majors for seven years and owns a 78-112 lifetime record, has led the league in losses four times. But the Indians think he can do the job for them.

MARIS FACING COMPETITION AS HOMER KING

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—What are the chances in 1962 of a National League slugger, aided by eight more games and playing again in the Polo Grounds, to match Roger Maris' 61 homers of last season?

Such senior loop belters as Orlando Cepeda, last year's league champion with 46, and Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants, Hank Aaron and Ed Mathews of the Milwaukee Braves and Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs generally agree there's only one way it can be done: with luck.

Most of them, questioned in the spring camps, emphasized that front-line pitching is better and deeper in the National League than Maris faced in the American League last season in cracking Babe Ruth's 154-game mark of 60 homers.

MUCH COMPETITION

"Even with 162 games, you just have too much competition in the National League to think about how many homers this man or that man can hit," said Aaron, who last season stroked 34.

Mathews, southpaw swinging Braves' third baseman, could be a real sleeper in the National League array of potential 60 home run clouters. His 35 last year gave him a record skein of nine 30-or-more homer seasons.

"They say a pull hitter may benefit by the nine games each club will play in the Polo Grounds this year," said Mathews. "This may be true, but I think every pitcher will be throwing away from any strong hitter in the Polo Grounds."

"I JUST SWING"

Mays hit 51 homers in 1955 with the Polo Grounds as home base and that's the same as Johnny Mize got lining shots down the Polo Grounds short foul lines in 1947.

But Mays' sentiments about revisiting the Polo Grounds pretty well were expressed by teammate Cepeda, who declared:

"I don't want to say what I can do. I just swing and try to get what I can."

FAMED ENGINE GOES TO MUSEUM

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—The New York Central Railroad's famed steam engine "999" is headed for Chicago's National Museum of Science and Industry.

No. 999 was the first steam-driven machine to exceed 100 miles an hour while pulling a passenger train.

On May 10, 1893, the engine was clocked at 112 m.p.h. west of Batavia, on a run from Rochester to Buffalo with the Empire State Express. Charlie Hogan was the engineer.

The engine has been out of service for 30 years, stored in a shop in De Witt, near Syracuse.

To men of the steam engine era, the trip to Chicago is something less than glamorous. Old "999" will be towed backwards by a diesel engine. It will arrive in Chicago Saturday.

WALT MICHAELS QUILTS BROWNS

CLEVELAND (AP)—Walter Michaels, an 11-year veteran of the National Football League, said Monday night he is quitting the Cleveland Browns.

"I'm flying to San Francisco today," the veteran linebacker said.

"There is a contract as defensive coach of the Oakland Raiders waiting for me there."

"I'm anxious to get started right away and make the Raider defense the best in the league."

The Raiders are in the American Football League, which will be heading into its third season.

Michaels, 32, regular right side linebacker and defensive signal caller, indicated he was quitting because of a salary dispute. He talked with Paul Brown, Cleveland coach and general manager, briefly Monday but got no satisfaction.

"He admitted that I had a good year, but you'd never know it from the money I've been offered."

The former Washington & Lee fullback, who lives in Shickshinny, Pa., has been with the Browns for 10 seasons after a freshman year with the Green Bay Packers.

Trotters, Stars Will Shoot For 3

HERSHEY — The point field goal, introduced so spectacularly this season in the new professional American Basketball League, will be a highlight of the Harlem Globetrotters' postseason series with the U. S. Stars, scheduled for a game at Hershey Sports Arena, Wednesday, April 11.

Decision to use the exciting "home run" feature on the tour marks further extension of the widespread interest in the gimmick. The lineup of the U. S. Stars includes several ABL players who were quite proficient in the art of tossing in the "buckets" from beyond the 25-foot mark. The ABL, started by Saperstein, owner-coach of the Globetrotters, is serving as the new circuit's

Shenandoah Downs Set For Opening

CHARLESTOWN, W. Va. —

With the spring opening at Shenandoah Downs just 10 days away, the night track was all set today, according to General Manager Robert G. Leavitt, with most of the 1,250 horses allotted stalls bedded down and the official family approved by the West Virginia Racing Commission.

Two new faces were among the 17 who will conduct the 31-night meeting which opens April 13. Norman Corbin will be identifier and timer and Milton Effthems will be clerk of scales.

Leavitt will be director of racing; James T. Feltner, W. R. Winters and Oley Hedrick, stewards; W. R. Kuykendall, starter; Warren Wolfe, Bud Sears and Edward E. Smith, placing judges; Donald K. MacDonald, paddock judge; Donald Eyster and Adam Prain, patrol judges; Robert C. Littleton, mutuels manager, and Daniel Cuthbert Jr., director of admissions.

Shenandoah Downs will open its fourth year of operation with the Twin Double replacing its pick-six Big Bonanza. Shenandoah pioneered pool wagering in this area with the Bonanza in 1960 but joins Lincoln Downs and Rockingham Park in dropping it this year.

YEAR-ROUND FISHING PLAN IS ADOPTED

HARRISBURG (AP)—A plan allowing year-round fishing on Pymatuning Lake and a new series of boating regulations were approved Monday by the Pennsylvania Fish Commission.

Commission action on Pymatuning Lake followed recommendations reached last Tuesday at a meeting in Pittsburgh of Pennsylvania and Ohio fishing groups.

The huge lake is about 85 per cent in Crawford County and the rest in Ohio. The Pennsylvania commission's action is still subject to ratification by the Ohio Wildlife Council before becoming effective.

CREEL LIMIT

As adopted by Pennsylvania, a daily creel limit of 10 bass and 10 walleyes would be set with a possession limit of double those numbers.

A daily creel limit of two muskellunge and a possession limit of four would be set.

The Ohio agency will meet Friday to consider the plan.

The new boating regulations would become effective April 1, 1963. The year-long delay was set, a commission spokesman said, to allow the commission time to establish qualifications for a proposed teen-age boaters' qualification certificate.

SET AGE LIMIT

The new regulations would set an age minimum of 14 years for persons allowed to operate motorboats. Youngsters under that age would have to have the proposed certificate.

The same age limit would apply to operators of motorboats pulling water skiers.

Another regulation would make it illegal for a person to place himself, or conduct himself, on a moving boat in a manner that would be dangerous.

A companion proposal would prohibit careless operation of boats.

The commission also re-adopted fly-fishing and designated more than 25 streams where fly-fishing only will be permitted for trout.

Sweeney Crowned Scoring Champion

NEW YORK (AP)—Billy Sweeney of the Springfield Indians has become the second player in the 26-year history of the American Hockey League to defend his scoring championship successfully.

The 25-year-old center wound up the regular AHL season with 40 goals and 61 assists for 101 points, official statistics showed today.

He will receive the John B. Sollenberger Trophy and a $300 bonus. Last season, Sweeney won both with 108 points. The only other AHL player to win successive titles was Jack Markle of Syracuse in 1937 and 1938.

With five points during the last week's play, Sweeney finished six points ahead of Willie Marshall of Hershey, who was second with 95. Barry Cullen of Buffalo was third with 94 and Brian Kilrea of Springfield fourth with 93.

The top goalie—also for the second straight year—was Springfield's Marcel Paille, who allowed 115 goals in 45 games for a low per-game average of 2.56. Denis DeJordy of Buffalo was the leader in shutouts with eight. Paille also will receive a league bonus of $300, plus the Harry Holmes Memorial Trophy.

WARRIORS TO PLAY 5 MEN AGAINST 9

By GEORGE ESPER
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Coach Frank McGuire of Philadelphia, sizing up tonight's crucial National Basketball Association playoff game against Boston, said the Warriors' big problem "will be playing five men against nine."

"Boston has a tremendous bench," said McGuire, whose Warriors must win tonight to stay in the Eastern Division final playoffs. "We've only had six (front line players) all year. With Tom Gola out (sprained right ankle) we're down to five."

The Celtics, in quest of their fourth straight NBA title, lead the best-of-seven series 3 games to 2. They won all of their games by decisive margins in Boston Garden while the Warriors have won by close margins in Convention Hall, site of tonight's action.

LA SEEKS WIN

A seventh game, if necessary, will be played in Boston Garden Thursday night.

Meanwhile, the Western Division final playoffs resume in Detroit tonight with Los Angeles, leading 3 games to 2, also only needing a victory to eliminate the Pistons.

McGuire said that after a good game Saturday, which the Warriors won 110-106, the club didn't have the stamina Sunday.

"With two in a row we don't have the bench to do it," he said. "A day's rest will help."

"Sunday they ran us so hard they got a big lead. We'll be rested for the fast break tonight. But without Gola—a defensive star—we'll have a lot of trouble in taking care of the fast break."

A doubtful performer for the Celtics is star Frank Ramsey. He has a badly pulled muscle in his left leg and his status will not be determined until game time.

Bob Cousy, weakened by a week long virus, missed a Boston practice session Monday. He also had suffered a sprained right toe and bruised arm and thigh Sunday.

Tom Heinsohn suffered a bruised right foot and Jim Loscutt a badly sprained right wrist, the Celtics reported.

McGuire was asked if he expected any repetition of the violence which broke out Sunday during the game and which resulted in the firing of Sam Jones, Loscutt and Heinsohn of Boston and Guy Rodgers and Ted Luckenbill of Philadelphia.

"No," said McGuire. "We play basketball."

He termed as "the ridiculous statement of the year," a comment attributed to Coach Red Auerbach of Boston that Philadelphia was "crawling the Celtics."

"Red is trying to intimidate the officials in a way, trying to create something in their mind. We know it's an act. I know he doesn't believe what he says. He's a very smart fellow. That's part of his strategy. I don't criticize him for it."

SEE NICKLAUS GOLF WINNER

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—"I think I've got a good chance of winning it."

With these words, bristling with confidence, young Jack Nicklaus threw down the gauntlet to a collection of the world's finest golfers who moved into their final tuneups today for the 26th Masters' Tournament, beginning Thursday.

"I love this course—it is my kind of course," Nicklaus added, waving a husky arm in the direction of Augusta National's pine-framed fairway. "I feel wonderful. I don't know when I have been more ready for a tournament."

These may sound like brash words from a young man of 21, a collegian a year ago and a pro of less than six months, but they are sentiments shared by many—observers and golfers alike—gathered here for the big spring golf show.

Multiple-Death Traffic Accidents In One Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Multiple-death traffic accidents littered highways and streets with an alarming number of dead and injured during the first full week-end of spring.

A total of 61 died in 16 accidents, most of them teen-agers and young college students.

Eight persons were killed in a single Canadian accident Sunday. They were occupants of a car struck by a train at a crossing east of Drummondville, Que.

Six youths, ranging in age from 16 to 21, were killed near Modesto, Calif., Sunday in the flaming head-on crash of two autos. Two others were seriously injured.

State highway patrol officers said a car driven by Jake Green, 17, of Modesto swerved at high speed and slammed into one driven by Darryl A. Borges, 21, of Gustine, Calif.

FIVE COEDS KILLED

Near Jacksonville, Fla., five coeds from Duke University were killed Sunday when their convertible spun out of control on rain-soaked U.S. 17 and careened into two semitrailer trucks.

The five, all graduating nursing students, were returning to the North Carolina school after spending the spring holidays in Miami and Fort Lauderdale, where thousands of college students congregated annually.

Five persons were killed in a collision at Hebron, Wis., Friday night.

Four youngsters ranging in age from 15 to 18 died Sunday when their car was struck by a fast-moving train on the main street of tiny Laverne, N.D. A fifth teen-ager was critically injured.

FOUR TEENERS DIED

Four teen-aged girls were killed and four of their companions were critically injured Sunday when one car plowed into the rear of another near Livermore, Calif. Four other young persons died near Marshall, Tex., Sunday when their car veered off U.S. 80 and overturned in a creek. The dead were trapped in the auto, which passersby found submerged with only the four tires showing above the water.

Near Riverside, Calif., a car hit a concrete abutment on the Riverside freeway Sunday, killing four persons, including three members of one family.

FOUR DIE IN COLLISION

Four persons, including boys aged 5 and 14 years, were killed in a collision near Mount Vernon, Ohio, Friday night. Police said one car apparently rolled over the top of a second one and landed upside down on the opposite side.

Near Gas City, Ind., Ralph Walser, 22, his wife and their infant daughter, of Jonesboro, Ind., were killed Saturday night when their car was hit by a Pennsylvania Railroad freight train.

Three men died Saturday night in a head-on collision on U.S. 24 in central Illinois. Near Riverton, Wyo., Sunday, Wesley E. Bryant, 35, of Riverton, his son and another boy were killed in a head-on collision on a straight, open stretch of highway.

Two persons died in each of three separate accidents late Saturday — at Ephrata, Wash.; near Wynnewood in southern Oklahoma and at Washington, Md. Two elderly persons were fatally injured Sunday in a two-car collision near Fulton, N.Y.

6,000 CHEER U.S. ACTRESS 30 MINUTES

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — "Retire?" asked prima donna Joan Sutherland, "Me retire? Now?"

She paused a moment and added: "No, I'll go on singing till I drop."

Suffering from arthritis—one of the most painful of ailments—the 33-year-old opera star has been reported ready to retire. But Sunday night she achieved one of the most resounding triumphs of her career.

More than 6,000 persons cheered her for 30 thundering minutes after a concert.

Her performance sent London's tough critics into paragraphs of ecstasy.

GREATEST TRIUMPH

"The singing offered by Miss Sutherland was the kind that made one privileged to be living in the 1960s. Rarely in her life could she have enjoyed a greater triumph on the concert platform," the Times said.

"On last night's showing, she could sing half the world's top sopranos under the table wearing a gag," the Daily Express said, added.

Says Nixon Book Exonerates Him

NEW YORK (AP) — Alger Hiss says a statement in a new book by Richard M. Nixon should help vindicate him of perjury charges that sent him to prison more than a decade ago.

But a spokesman for the former vice president said in Los Angeles that the statement was the result of a researcher's error that slipped by Nixon when he checked the manuscript.

The statement, which appears in the book, "Six Crises," says that FBI agents had obtained Hiss' old typewriter which was a central factor in the former State Department employee's controversial trials.

Hiss described this Sunday night as a flat contradiction of past government contentions.

The Daily Telegraph said the packed house gave her "ovations of positively Latin intensity."

After encore on encore, the orchestra had to be led away to allow the singer to finally retire.

Speaking of her pain to reporters, she said: "I think it's a flat-tended disc that's causing the trouble. It's only when I have to sit down for long periods, but anyway tonight I was standing."

"It does give me a twinge when I have to take deep breaths. But don't worry — I'll survive," she added.

Catholic Prelate Defied By Woman Segregationist

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—"If I'm wrong, I'll get down on my knees and ask for mercy and forgiveness," says a militant segregationist who claims she was threatened with excommunication by a Roman Catholic archbishop.

Mrs. B. J. Gailiot, president of Save Our Nation, Inc., pleaded for an interview with Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel to discuss the segregation issue.

The dark-haired mother of three, a descendant of seven generations of Louisiana Catholics, said she received a registered letter late Saturday night from the archdiocese.

She declined to disclose its contents but said it was a blunt threat of excommunication. She said she assumed she received the letter "because of my stand on segregation."

GETS PERSONAL NOTE

The archdiocesan chancery issued a statement Sunday night that a "personal and confidential" letter was sent to Mrs. Gailiot.

Mrs. Gailiot's organization contends that Biblical teachings prove "God demands segregation."

Archbishop Rummel, 82, who declared segregation "morally wrong and sinful" six years ago, last week ordered an end to segregated classes in the archdiocese beginning next fall.

Mrs. Gailiot has led a small band of women picketing Rummel's residence, the chancery and the nearby home of Coadjutor Archbishop John Patrick Cody since the announcement.

A high church official disclosed that similar letters had gone to several leading segregationists.

NOTIFY CANDIDATES

The source said personal letters went to each Catholic on the platform at a meeting last Friday night of the pro-segregationist Citizens Council. Speakers at the meeting attacked the archbishop's desegregation order of March 27 and urged withdrawal of financial support to the church.

The chancery denied that any church official made "any statement that personal letters went to each Catholic who was on the platform."

The chancery refused, however, to deny that a letter had been sent to Republican mayoralty candidate E. Ross Buckley and Leander H. Perez Sr., white-haired political boss of neighboring Plaquemines Parish.

Both Perez and Buckley were on the platform at the Citizens Council meeting, along with Democratic district attorney-nominee James H. Garrison; Bernard J. McCloskey, New Orleans director of regulatory inspection; and State Rep. Rodney Buras.

DEATH CLAIMS TRACK COACH

SOMERS POINT, N. J. (AP)—Albert M. (Bert) Barron, a 1914 graduate of Penn State and former Temple University and Swarthmore College track coach, died Sunday in Shore Memorial Hospital after suffering a heart attack last Tuesday.

Barron, 73, started coaching football in 1915 at Bethlehem Prep. He served as track coach at Temple, then at Swarthmore for 19 years until he retired in November, 1950.

Barron also had been head of the physical education department and athletic director at Olney High School in Philadelphia until his retirement in 1957. He went to Olney as department head in 1937 but was drafted as football coach in 1943.

Survivors include his widow, Edna, and a son.

Funeral services will be private.

Greg Weiss Places In Three Events

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—Penn State's Greg Weiss placed in three events in the NCAA gymnastics championships but the Nittany Lions, the defending champs, finished ninth.

The Lions had 13½ points when the meet ended Saturday night. Weiss tied for seventh with 9.05 points in the still rings, was fourth in the parallel bars with 9.25, and was ninth in the horizontal bar with 8.8.

Teammate Tom Seward finished 10th in the side horse, but won no points.

Pitt's Earl McConnell was third in the free exercise with 9.125 points. Pitt finished far down in team standings with eight points.

The meet was won this year by rich parish for nearly 30 years, has been harshly critical of the archbishop, claiming that the church hierarchy is acting contrary to the will of the people.

WHIZZER WHITE IS AVERAGE AGE OF JUSTICES

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—You can't quarrel with President Kennedy's appointment of Byron R. (Whizzer) White to the U.S. Supreme Court because of his age (44) or judicial experience (none).

The figures won't back you up. But there isn't much opposition to him anyway.

He is just a few years younger than the average age of all American Supreme Court justices at the time of their appointment. And he'll be right at home as a man who never served as a judge before.

Only four of the nine justices on the court last week — unless Hugo Black's experience as a police court magistrate is counted — had experience on the bench before going to the high court.

VIEWS NOT KNOWN

Apparently no one is mad at White personally. This wasn't so when some of the present justices were named. Black and Felix Frankfurter were controversial figures when President Franklin D. Roosevelt picked them.

There's a good explanation for the lack of animosity toward White. He has never said or done anything — so far as is now known — to stir it up.

No one seems sure what his views on the issues are — simply because he has been so publicly quiet since Kennedy made him deputy attorney general last year.

Before then he was just a Colorado lawyer, known best for his brilliant scholastic record and as an All-America football player in the 1930s. He was a big Kennedy booster in the 1960 campaign.

Southern California with 95½ points, and Southern Illinois was second with 75.

Here are some figures to set White against in the long history of Supreme Court justices, going back to the beginning:

AVERAGE AGE 53

At the time of their appointment their average age was almost 53. This puts White about midway between the youngest and the average.

The youngest was Joseph Story, who was 32. Of the 93 justices in history, only two other justices were under 40 when appointed: William Johnson, 33, and Bushrod Washington, 36.

All three were named in the earliest years of the court. Story, the last of them, was appointed in 1811. For the last 151 years, no one under 40 has been given a seat on the court.

Story was not only the youngest justice appointed, but served 34 years. Others matched the 34-year mark, but no one topped it.

NINE SERVED 30 YEARS

Only nine of the 93 justices served 30 years or longer. Besides Story, they were (with the years served): John Marshall, 34; Stephen J. Field, 34; John M. Harlan, 34; John McLean, 32; James M. Wayne, 32; Bushrod Washington, 31; William Johnson, 30, and Oliver Wendell Holmes, 30.

Charles Evans Hughes, named chief justice by President Herbert Hoover in 1930, was the oldest man ever appointed to the court. He was then 68. However, he had previously served on the court and resigned to run against Woodrow Wilson for the presidency in 1916.

Altogether 11 justices were in the 60s when appointed.

LIMITED EXPERIENCE

At the time Justice Charles Evans Whitaker resigned last week only four — if Black's very minor experience is excepted — of the nine justices had prior experience on the bench.

Whittaker, on the U.S. Court of Appeals; John M. Harlan (grandson of Justice Harlan who served 34 years), on the U.S. Court of Appeals; William J. Brennan Jr., a former New Jersey court judge; and Potter Stewart, on the U.S. Court of Appeals.

All four of them had fairly limited experience. Brennan, with seven years in the New Jersey courts, had the most.

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—The revolutionary government of Gen. Ne Win abolished the supreme and other high courts Saturday.

A chief court of six judges has been set up to act as a court of final appeal. All cases presently pending in the old courts will be transferred to the newly formed chief court.

Justice Bo Gyi of the Supreme Court has been appointed chief judge of the new judiciary system.

DACCA, Pakistan (AP)—The biggest American-aided project in Pakistan went into operation Saturday.

Situated in eastern Pakistan 40 miles upstream from Chittagong on the Karnaphuli river, the $100 million Karnaphuli hydroelectric project will produce 80,000 kilowatts of much-needed electric power. It will also control floods, improve navigation and help develop forests, industry and commercial fishing. The U.S. contribution has been $71 million.

Kennedy Greeted Brazil's Goulart

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today welcomes President Joao Goulart of Brazil—a nation that may be the key to success or failure of the U.S. Alliance for Progress program.

The primary purpose of the visit, it is understood, is for Kennedy and Goulart to get to know each other and exchange their points of view.

Goulart, with support of Brazil's extreme leftists, took office suddenly and dramatically late last year with the unexpected resignation of Janio Quadros. He had just ended a visit to Red China when he was moved up from vice president to president.

Kennedy and Goulart undoubtedly will discuss the recent expropriation of a U.S.-owned telephone company by a Brazilian state.

Louisiana GOP Eyes Victory

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—It's almost a foregone conclusion to nearly everyone but Republican Ross Buckley, that Mayor Victor H. Schiro, a Democrat, will win a full four-year term in today's general election.

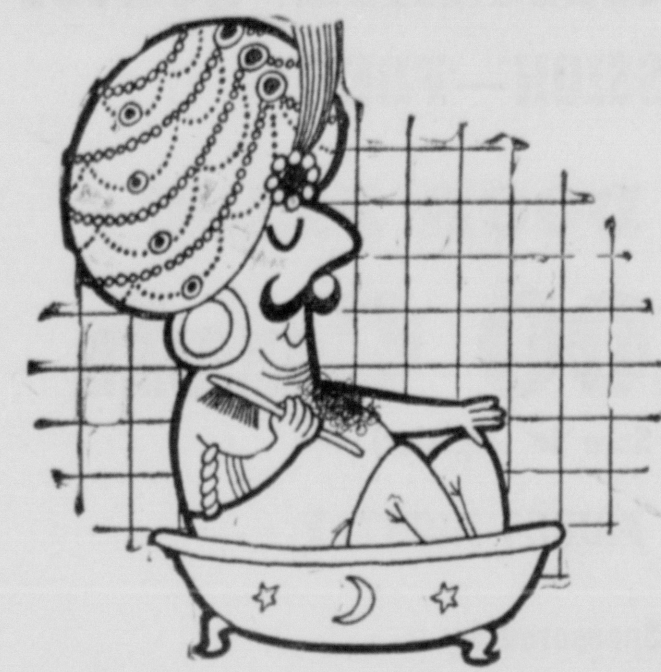

Buckley, a 40-year-old attorney, has waged the most extensive campaign this Deep South city has seen by a Republican in many years.

A native of New York who has lived here since 1946, Buckley terms himself a conservative of the Barry Goldwater school. He pitched his campaign theme on voluntary segregation.

Schiro won the Democratic nomination a month ago in a bitterly-contested primary with State Sen. Adrian Duplantier.

Buckley has made an open bid for support of the militantly segregationist Citizens Council of the Greater New Orleans area, which endorsed Schiro in the Democratic race. The council has withheld endorsement for the general election.

Many Financial And Trade Problems Ahead

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—March has dumped quite a package of international financial and trade problems in the lap of April.

A lot of the old standbys are included, if in fresh guises: Gold, tariffs, foreign aid, international banking compacts. And, entwined are some you might be surprised to find there: Steel wage talks, the federal budget, automation, job security, the cost of living (meaning prices).

The way these seemingly unlikely bedfellows get together is this.

LOST GOLD TOO

A small but growing number of financial and trade observers are saying the United States can't solve its acute problems of a recently increased outflow of gold and a continuing deficit in balance of payments just by setting up international banking pacts to fight any runs on the dollar. You've got to do deeper and, as they put it, get America's own house in order.

The danger to the dollar, however remote it may seem, is that for four years the United States has sent considerably more dollars overseas than it got back—an average of about $3.4 billion a year, although this has been dropping.

Foreigners turned some of their surplus dollars into the U.S. Treasury for gold at $35 an ounce. This way the United States lost $2.3 billion in gold in 1958, about $1 billion in 1959, another $1.7 billion in 1960 but cut it to $900 million last year.

BASIC PROBLEM

The trouble is that most of the 1961 loss was in the final months of the year and so far in 1962 the outflow has been $279 million. The hoard is still $16.6 billion. This is about 40 per cent of the gold held in the non-Communist world but the lowest since the start of World War II.

The United States hopes to control the short-term flow of gold by such means as the proposed currency stabilization plan of the International Monetary Fund for which Congress is being asked to pool to be operated by the central banks of the leading non-Communist nations, including the United States.

Still, the basic problem remains the deficit in balance of payments. This shortfall of dollar receipts from abroad against the bigger amounts to money sent overseas dropped to $2.5 billion last year. The administration hopes to cut this to $1.5 billion this year (many think the foreign trade business think the deficit will be closer to $2.5 billion again).

EXPORT BOOST NEEDED

An increase in U.S. exports is seen as the chief means of cutting the deficit to gain that end, the administration has asked Congress for power to cut U.S. tariffs in return for concessions from goods and to give industry tax incentives to improve its plants.

That brings the controversial tariff issue into the battle. The perennial fight over foreign aid is also involved. U.S. exports already toop imports. The international payments deficit arises from other dollar spending. This includes foreign aid, overseas military bases and periodical flights of short-term investment dollars to other lands where interest rates often are higher.

But some businessmen who ap-

SUNDAY NIGHT SHOW MOSTLY FOR FEMALES

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP-Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Television had a number of noteworthy items for the viewers—particularly the women—and, quite by chance, loaded them all into Sunday night's schedule.

Starting the evening's entertainment was "Jacqueline Kennedy's Journey" on NBC, a sort of combination travelogue and fashion show of special interest because of the identity of the traveler and owner of the clothes.

Our First Lady is a beautiful, charming and amazingly durable young woman, NBC's color motion plaud the administration's move toward freer trade say that the dollar's status can be defended successfully over the long term and U.S. exports materially increased only by tightening the budgetary policies of the federal government and by achieving price stability. This last involves avoidance of inflationary wage hikes, the goal in the steel labor talks.

The put-out-house-in-order advocates also stress cost control and increased efficiency. This often means automation on the one hand and on the other giving up featherbedding practices on the part of both labor and management—both highly controversial proposals.

And increased profits also are advocated as the way to insure plant expansion and modernization, if Americans are to compete with foreigners and expand exports.

Stopping the outflow of gold and curing the balance of payments are problems that are far from licked.

STATE MAKES LOAN TO PAY SCHOOL FUNDS

HARRISBURG (AP) —

More than $8 million is headed for 469 third class school districts in Pennsylvania today, completing the state's 1961-62 school subsidy program.

Budget Secretary David R. Baldwin said Monday $42 million of the total sum was borrowed from the state's motor license fund to meet the payments.

The loan—which Baldwin said should be repaid in two or three weeks—leaves the special fund with a balance of $12,643,000.

All but two of the state's 411 third class districts will receive the subsidy payments. Baldwin added. He did not have the names of the two districts available.

Monday's mailing completes the state's semiannual subsidy program for its 2,185 school districts, except for a few units still to be processed.

The state last borrowed money from the motor license fund for school subsidies two years ago, Baldwin recalled.

PERMITTED BY LAW

He said the low balance should not halt payments to highways contractors but might slow up state payment to municipalities of their share of state gasoline tax receipts.

The borrowing to pay school subsidies is permitted by law. The payments, falling due before the April 15 deadline for corporation taxes, frequently finds the general fund balance low.

Kitchen thrift: Season cooked rice on occasion with bacon drippings instead of butter or margarine.

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—A mechanical malfunction has again delayed testing of a new automatic control system for the X15 rocket plane. Next attempt to fly the test craft will be Wednesday later, a spokesman said.

The plane was four minutes from being launched Saturday when the flight was called off for the fourth time in a week. The X15 is dropped from a high-flying B52 bomber for its test runs.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—It happened at the YMCA kite-flying contest in suburban Lynwood. One of the 100 kites entered had painted on it: "Father and son. Pals forever."

The boy was trying to fly the kite when his dad accidentally stepped on it. It was crushed. The youngster slammed his ball of twine to the ground and ran crying—to his mother.

GOVERNOR TO PENTHOUSE AT NEW BUILDING

HARRISBURG (AP) — It looks as though future Pennsylvania governors will be getting a penthouse instead of a new million-dollar executive mansion in the state's capital city.

The General State Authority scotched the idea of a new mansion Monday at its monthly meeting here as a waste of money.

In its place, the GSA adopted a proposal that would include a two-room penthouse atop the 12-story State Office Building now being constructed just north of the Capitol Building.

The town apartment would serve as an auxiliary and emergency home for future governors and guests of the state.

HAPPY SOLUTION

"It's a very happy solution" to the problem, declared Gov. Lawrence, head of the GSA Board of Governors.

The penthouse was proposed by a three-member committee of the board, then adopted with one dissenting vote—that of House Speaker H. G. Andrews.

The state should provide a "people's home" for its chief executives, "something accessible to visitors who want to see where the governor lives—not just a penthouse," Andrews claimed.

His stand supported a proposal of two years ago calling for a new executive mansion to replace the one now located at Indiantown Gap, some 22 miles from Harrisburg.

STATE NOT JUSTIFIED

"I don't think the state of Pennsylvania is justified in building a house for the governor just for the people to come to see," Lawrence argued in rebuttal.

He described the home at Indiantown Gap as quite adequate.

The penthouse proposal calls for a three-bedroom apartment and a ballroom to seat 200 persons at state functions.

It was approved by Lawrence, Auditor Gen. Thomas Z. Minihart, Senate President Pro Tempore Anthony J. Disilvestro, House Majority Leader Stephen McCann, Internal Affairs Secretary Genevieve Blatt and Rep. W. Stuart Helm, House GOP Policy Committee chairman.

The next step is for the GSA staff to work out plans and cost estimates for the penthouse.

Then the revised plans will have to be approved again—along with any additional costs involved—by the 12-member GSA board.

The cornerstone of St. Peter's was laid in 1906. Work then continued intermittently for 120 years.

The next step is for the GSA staff to work out plans and cost estimates for the penthouse.

Then the revised plans will have to be approved again—along with any additional costs involved—by the 12-member GSA board.

The cornerstone of St. Peter's was laid in 1906. Work then continued intermittently for 120 years.

The penthouse proposal calls for a three-bedroom apartment and a ballroom to seat 200 persons at state functions.

It was approved by Lawrence, Auditor Gen. Thomas Z. Minihart, Senate President Pro Tempore Anthony J. Disilvestro, House Majority Leader Stephen McCann, Internal Affairs Secretary Genevieve Blatt and Rep. W. Stuart Helm, House GOP Policy Committee chairman.

A Bit Of History About Early Settlers

By B. F. M. MacPHERSON

THE SOCIAL TRIUMPHS OF HARRIET LANE JOHNSTON

The genealogical and historical data pertaining to Harriet Lane Johnston, outstanding "First Lady," who became a legend during her own lifetime, is continued at this time. The record of the Lane family buried in the old "Town" cemetery at Lancaster, Pennsylvania, is concluded with the inscriptions from the last two stones in the plot, not mentioned in this column two weeks ago.

10. "Sacred to the memory of Richard J. Lane, son of James B. and Martha J. Lane, died August 11, 1862, aged 2 years, 8 months, and 7 days."

Note — The sixth child and second son of James Buchanan and Martha J. Lane, died before attaining the age of six years. The mortality rate for children in that day was quite high among all classes of people and apparently the Lane family was no exception to this rule.

GRANITE CROSS

11. The last grave in the Lane burial plot is marked with a granite cross, about five feet high and beautifully proportioned. Unfortunately the inscription is almost entirely obliterated but enough remains to show that this is the grave of Mary Elizabeth Spear Lane, the wife of George W. Baker and the daughter of Elliott Toll and Jane (Buchanan) Lane. Mrs. Baker died at San Francisco, California, in December, 1855, and her sister, Harriet Lane Johnston, had her body returned to Lancaster, Pennsylvania, for burial.

In the collection of letters, written by James Buchanan to Harriet Lane, which are still in existence, there is a number of references to this sister of Harriet Lane, her death and burial. The death of Mary Elizabeth Lane Baker was a terrible blow to Buchanan as well as his niece.

When Harriet Lane Johnston joined her distinguished uncle in London, during his term as American minister to England, and took over her duties at official hostess — her success was immediate and outstanding. At the time Buchanan received an honorary degree at Oxford his niece accompanied him and received an enthusiastic ovation from the students — something rather unusual for that day. Harriet Lane's friendship with members of the royal family was to continue during her entire lifetime. Even the staid Prince Albert, Queen Victoria's consort, approved of the beautiful American girl.

DMIRIED BY PRINCE

Edward, Prince of Wales, later King Edward VII, particularly admired both Buchanan and his young hostess. Years later, on her visits to England, Mrs. Johnston was, on many different occasions, the guest of King Edward and Queen Alexandra. Of course this friendship led to the usual rumors and gossip and within recent years an article was published which stated, in no uncertain terms, that Harriet Lane had refused Edward's proposal of marriage.

The following is quoted from this "fairly tale of romance" to show how the truth can be distorted by the "romancers" of history. "If a beautiful young chateleine of the White House a century ago had said 'Yes' instead of 'No,' a descendant of an American First Lady might now be occupying the throne of Great Britain."

"Exactly a hundred years ago, more or less, the future King Edward VII came to Washington in cognito as the Baron Renfrew to woo Harriet Lane, the beautiful mistress of the White House, whose uncle was President James Buchanan."

ADORED BY QUEEN

"Prince Albert, for whom a coat style was named, had fallen under the spell of Miss Lane's charms in London, while her uncle served as the U. S. minister to the Court of St. James. His mother, Queen Victoria, also adored the beautiful American girl and decreed that she (Harriet Lane) should have the same rank and privileges as that of a minister's wife."

"An intimate friend wrote of Harriet Lane — 'she grew up to be a beautiful woman, with a wealth of titian hair and perfect features. Her eyes were deep violet, with a strange, dark line around them that gave them a gentle expression. She was tall and graceful.'"

"One thing is certain, Prince Albert admired her very much. He became a frequent visitor at the American Embassy in London, but found himself in heady competition with other wealthy British swains, one of whom kept a yacht costing 2,000 pounds a year."

WELL EDUCATED

"Harriet Lane had been reared and educated as carefully as any princess for the First Lady role that she later assumed. Orphaned at the age of nine years, she and her sister were left to their uncle's guardianship."

"James Buchanan sent the girls to Virginia boarding and finishing schools and wrote them detailed letters of instructions and advice each week. A biographer records that it would be almost impossible

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir:

During the past few years there seems to have been an awakening of interest in the origin of names, in particular the names of old churches and of communities and perhaps the names of post offices in Adams County. Our present interest concerns the friendly community known as Zora, lying between Fairfield and Emmitsburg.

How came it to bear that name, and who first named it? We have recent information that we believe will clarify the origin and the approximate year in which it was given that name. This section lies very near the center of Liberty Township, Adams County.

In the late 1880's of the last century and during the first term of office of President Grover Cleveland, the people of that neighborhood felt that they were entitled to better and more local mail service. Previous to that time they depended upon Emmitsburg and Fairfield for that service, both points being several miles distant.

Accordingly the interested residents prepared a petition to the postmaster general seeking the establishment of a post office in their community. Favorable action was taken by the Post Office Department and their request was granted. Mr. Allen Longanecker, a substantial resident, was an applicant for the postmastership when the new office should be established. At this point a name for the office had to be chosen. It seems that the general community sentiment was that Mr. Longanecker should be the first postmaster. He suggested that the future patrons of the office suggest a name for their new post office.

Many responded and presently he had a list of 10 or 12 names. SIGN PETITION

That set up a problem: which name should be chosen. The problem was solved in this fashion. Mr. and Mrs. Longanecker sat down together, studied the list and finally chose the name of Zora, it being one of the names appearing on the list. The P. O. Department gave it that name and all seemed satisfied with the selection. Just why that name was chosen we do not know.

Mr. Longanecker conducted the P. O. in his little country store.

In those long ago days there were many such arrangements, a general country store and post office combined.

OFFICE IS CLOSED

For the foregoing information we are indebted to Mr. Norman Riley who is now 75 years of age. He was born and has lived all his life within one mile of the Longanecker home. For the information he has supplied he is in turn indebted to his parents, to find a more interesting and instructive picture of a man's care for a woman's education, manner deportment and inner characters than is to be traced in Buchanan's letters to his nieces."

"Harriet Lane was for a time the toast of London, and when her bachelor uncle became President, on March 4, 1857, the queenly young woman set the American fashion pace with her voluminous Victorian skirts, low necks and elaborate headdresses."

EUROPEAN COURT

"The White House, for the first time in several decades, assumed the air of a European Court."

"Buchanan had served at the Russian as well as the British courts, and many of the titled visitors who flocked to Washington were personal friends of the President and his niece. Among them was the glamorous Prince de Joinville, son of Louis Philippe of France."

"A wave of excitement swept America late in 1860 when the press discovered that Baron Renfrew, the distinguished guest who was staying at the White House and showering Miss Lane with attentions, was none other than Albert Edward, the Prince of Wales."

The notes on Harriet Lane Johnston, who belongs in part to Adams County, Pennsylvania, will be continued in this column next week.

A Lovelier You

By MARY SUE MILLER

FIT AS YOUR FEET. Lines in a woman's face can be mirror of pain in her feet. Nor are tortured feet any help to her walk and disposition. In a very real sense you are as young, fit and happy as your feet.

Mr. and Mrs. David P. Riley, and from other elderly people who lived in the neighborhood. Mr. Riley states that as a barefoot boy about six years of age he remembers carrying, in the summer months, baskets of eggs and butter to the Longanecker store and perhaps made a few purchases for his mother and asking for the family mail. The eggs he delivered were six to eight cents per dozen and the butter eight to 10 cents per pound. Following Mr. Longanecker, Mr. Bryant B. Wortz and Mr. George Gingell Sr. served as postmasters of the Zora post office.

The office was discontinued in 1903 or 1904. "Rural Free Delivery" mail service was established at the Fairfield post office in the year 1900 and also at Emmitsburg the same year, I believe. Quite a number of the smaller offices in Adams County were closed about that time for the same reason. The original name of the service has been shortened and is now the R. D. mail service. We hope the above will be regarded as pressworthy.

You could avoid much misery just by having the salesman measure your foot each time you purchase footwear. Then he would be able to advise you as to the correct size in any given style. Of course you must make the final judgment. So, before making it, walk around in the shoes you try. Be sure they leave room for every toe, buttress the arches, snug but do not cut the instep or heel.

Benny Kid Paret Dies 10 Days After Title Match

NEW YORK (AP) — Benny Paret (Kid) Paret died today—10 days after his head was bashed 20 times or more as he fought helplessly in the ropes in losing his world welterweight boxing title.

He never came out of a coma after being pounded senseless by Emilio Griffith in the 12th round of their nationally televised title fight at Madison Square Garden March 24.

Doctors had held little hope from the start that he ever would recover from the brain damage he suffered in the battering that led to numerous criticisms of the fight and of professional boxing in general.

Paret's wife, Lucy, 23, who is expecting a second child, was called to Roosevelt Hospital when the Cuban-born fighter died at 1:55 a.m.

"LOST MY MAN"
"I've lost my man," she cried. "I want to go with him. Take me along."

Paret's mother, Mrs. Maximo Crespo, said tearfully that she wanted to take her son's body back to his native Cuba for burial in the family plot.

Paret, 25, had developed pneumonia Monday.

His wife brought their son, Benny Jr., 2, here with her from their home in Miami, Fla., the day after the fight. Paret's mother and his brother, Antonio, 26, came from Cuba later.

Antonio and Paret's manager, Manuel Alfaro, were with Paret when he died. Alfaro said Paret's condition took a sudden turn for the worse an hour before he died.

ORDER AUTOPSY

An autopsy was ordered at Bellevue Hospital.

Brother Antonio, weeping, said to newsmen several times, "I can't understand why he was so mauled."

Alfaro—asked where he placed the blame — said, "Circumstances."

TOWN POLICE

dian, initiated by the state highway department, to make W. Lincoln Ave. a "through street."

Council authorized the mayor and the safety and highway committee to "cap" the meters at the Travel Council information center, Carlisle St.

Bids ranging from $1,850 to $2,130 for various types of police cars were submitted by the H. and H. Machine Shop. The safety and property committees recommended that all be rejected and new bids asked for submission at next month's meeting. It also recommended that all new car dealers in the county be asked to submit bids.

Previously, Alfaro had criticized referee Ruby Goldstein for not stopping the fight sooner than he did—in two minutes and nine seconds of the 12th round, after Paret had taken a pounding on the head without retaliating.

The State Athletic Commission, which supervises boxing, has cleared Goldstein and the ring-side doctors after an investigation.

PONDER NEW LAWS

The severe injuries suffered by Paret led the New York City Legislature to name a special committee to determine whether the state needs new laws to regulate boxing, or whether the sport should be outlawed.

As soon as Paret's death was announced, New York City police began a formal investigation, which is routine in all such cases. An informal police investigation had been going on since the fight.

Early on the morning after the televised Saturday night fight, Paret underwent a three-hour brain operation to relieve the pressure of two blood clots. Doctors said then that "all that can be done has been done."

Paret's wife, who had urged him to give up fighting after he was knocked out by Griffith in their first meeting a year ago, watched the fatal fight on television.

WOULD CHANGE

St. on its own light. Now traffic comes out of West St. when the traffic is moving," and recommended closing an entrance to the shopping center parking lot that enters off Springs Ave. almost into the intersection.

At Baltimore St. and Steinwehr Ave, he recommended changing the location of present traffic lights by placing the lights in an "island" at about the center of the intersection.

The present light is at too great distance from where traffic stops, he said, and "a number of out-of-state drivers stop for the light" in the center of the intersection, he said.

Bennett said he would use the present lights, and a three-phase arrangement at West St. which would cost "about $200 or $300."

HAD ALTERNATES

For most of his proposals the engineer had several alternates. Council generally expressed its belief that the ideas were "good" and turned the recommendations over to the safety committee for study and recommendation.

Johns asked council for map of the town showing the width of the streets and sidewalks and the right of way.

ART CONTEST

Norman Rockwell albums which have been conducted in connection with "Campaign Gettysburg" was held Saturday. The winner was James D. Lane, of 34 York St.

Oscar F. Spicer, of the Jaycee promotion committee, received word Monday from the Saturday Evening Post, cosponsor of "Campaign Gettysburg," that their albums, which were being autographed by Norman Rockwell, the artist, had been shipped. The albums may be obtained by the winners at Otty, Oscar F. Spicer's law office, 111 Baltimore St. They will be available by Thursday.

VACANCY ON

is in the borough and state law does not require transportation of pupils within a third-class school district regardless of the distance from the school.

A partial report sent to the board by the committee indicated that the bus service for the Bariga children "can't be justified on the basis of distance from the school."

BALANCE DROPS

Treasurer's reports from the First National Bank for February and March were read showing $890 received in February and $734 in March from the real estate transfer tax. There was a $35,000 payment to the joint school district in March and the balance of $93,402 on February 1 had dropped to $60,389 by March 28.

Payment of a bill for $3,750 for furnace repairs at the rented high school lodge was ordered paid.

Announcement was made of a district directors' meeting April 28 at Susquehanna High School and of the county school directors' convention here next Tuesday.

In addition to President Darr, Secretary Orner and Dr. Heikkinen, directors present Monday evening included Jack Oyler, Mrs. Muriel Rice and Horace Waybright.

Let's Look At The Record

"BREAKOUT AND PURSUIT"
In Normandy It Was A Worm's-Eye-View
New Book Brings Order Out Of Chaos

By JIM DAN HILL, PH.D.
President Wisconsin State College
Superior

THE BOOK A million men once swore they wanted to read is now in print.

They were the officers and men of Courtney Hodges' First and George Patton's Third U. S.
Armies. Since D-Day of 1944 they had been fighting to break out of the Normandy "Lodgement Area."

The cutting edge of these two American Armies consisted of two airborne divisions; six armored divisions and fourteen infantry divisions, with scores and scores of re-enforcing, nondivi-sional battalions of artillery, tank destroyers, combat engineers and re-enforcing armored units.
The British Second Army and the Canadian First Army were likewise vainly trying to break out toward Caen.

And, of course, the air was filled daily with continuous flights of fighter planes from bases in England, or from hastily cleared strips near the beaches.

THE BATTLE of the Hedge-rows, as it came to be called, was in many respects more bitter than the Battle of the Bulge. It was the snow and the cold and such a hell of a way to spend a Christmas season that made the Bulge so bad!

In the hills and hedgerows of Normandy, the Jerries had perfect defensive terrain. Worse yet, they had far more ammunition,
small arms to 170 mm artillery, conveniently stockpiled near more guns than they could keep available in their fast moving Bulge offensive.

And the German soldiers in Normandy were Rommel's best panzer, parachute and infantry divisions. They had been battle seasoned in the conquest of France, the Balkans or the Russian front. Some had fought in all three areas.

At no time, anywhere, did the Americans in World War II find themselves confronted by a more competent or a more ably commanded enemy.

Once Rommel had sealed off the American and British gains from the smashing surprise of D-Day, progress toward St. Lo and Caen was slow and costly.

TO THE MILLION or more
Americans in the Lodgement
Area, it was a worm's-eye-view, with the worm normally peering over the rim of a fox hole. An observed, in a low-flying, artillery spotter plane, could not identify the so-called front lines, except by reference to landmarks previously selected from a headquarters battle map.

So well camouflaged and concealed were the embattled battalions of both armies that the air observer felt the full impact of the hackneyed term, "The emptiness of the modern battlefield."

There was only the ground haze of battle created by the residue dust and pale vapors from bursting artillery shells mixed with the gently wafted summer smoke from smouldering barns and battered villages that had been ignited by shell bursts, tracer bullets or mortar projectiles of the deeply dug-in and invisible infantry.

There was the noise of intermittent gunfire; German burp guns that in the distance sounded like someone tearing a linen handkerchief.

The nearer, louder sputters were from friendly, concealed lonely machine gunners who thought they "glimped a movement in the 'Indian Country.'"
The occasional artillery, time-on-target, thunder-like "serenades" merely accentuated the comparative silence that followed.

EACH NIGHT the ammunition and supply trucks from the beaches also brought a new collection of rumors. "The 5th Division has landed and will take over the Caumont sector from the 1st Division." "General Patton's headquarters has landed with two new divisions of infantry. But where are they?"

"Has BBC broadcast anything about Hitler's death?" (Untrue;
the assassination has fizzled.)
"Our battalion ambulance is just back from a hospital run. The driver saw the medics cutting a bloody, three-star shirt from an unconscious stretcher case. It would have to be Bradley, Hodges, or Patton!" (Untrue; the

BOYLE'S Grab Bag

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Safety checks of 3 1/2 million U.S. cars and trucks last year found one in six was a highway hazard. The most common defect: Faulty rear lights.

Rural capitalists: More than 80 per cent of American farmers now own at least part of the land they till—an incentive that helps explain why they outproduce Soviet cooperative farms.

TV SET WORST
What home gadget needs the most repairs? A survey found it was the television set. Least trouble-prone, in order, were the kitchen refrigerator, stove, sewing machine and electric iron.

The teaspoon was introduced around 1650, when Europeans and Americans began drinking tea. The spoons originally had perforated bowls.

One reason why Ireland must be heaven. Babysitters charge an average of only 35 cents an hour. Some hotels even provide this service free.

BATHTUB COMPOSER
Something to sneeze at: Americans suffer about 115 million head colds a year.

Or quotable notables: "When you get to the end of your rope, dying soldier was Lt. Gen. Leslie J. McNair, a secret visitor in the Lodgement Area.)

THE MASSIVE attacks by the V Corps and XIX Corps at St. Lo opened a path for Patton's Third Army in late July. But the victory merely added to the speed of confusion and the violence of the German reaction with the counter attacks at Mortain. A thousand new rumors displaced the old.

From Mortain, through the Argentan shoot, the Liberation of Paris and the pursuit to the Seigfried Line, every time and every where that men met, some cynic would mutter, and others would agree, that maybe all this was according to a plan. But if any book could make it look like a plan, they wanted to see it. It would be worth reading.

THAT BOOK, "Breakout and Pursuit," Government Printing Office, $10.25, is now available. It is ably written by Martin Blumenson, former history professor at Hofstra College. He has brought order from a long remembered chaos. He presents it as a drama of personalities as well as a gigantic, bitter game of chess.

The book's 743 pages are well indexed and a splendid sequel to the Department of Army's "Cross-Channel Attack." If you were in Normandy, you can read it rapidly. Otherwise, spread out the maps on the dining room table and proceed with deliberation. Either way, you will learn something you did not know.

tie a knot and hang on."—Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Inspiration: Many people sing in the bathroom, but Franz Schubert reportedly composed one of his greatest works—his "Unfinished Symphony"—while in the bathtub.

Quips from our contemporaries: Catholic Digest reports this sign in a Manhattan record shop: "Used phonograph for sale, for sale, for sale, for sale."

EDUCATORS CAN'T AGREE
Even educators can't agree on whether Johnny reads well enough. A poll showed 54 per cent thought present methods of teaching reading are effective, 44 per cent thought they aren't.

History lesson: At least two U.S. presidents died in debt. They were Thomas Jefferson, who owed $40,000, and William Henry Harrison, amount unknown. U.S. Grant left no estate of value except his memoirs—but they netted his family $500,000.

Many large and small business firms today believe their economic safety lies in diversification, but Andrew Carnegie, the rugged little steel tycoon, gave this advice: "Put all your eggs in one basket. Watch that basket."

GOLF DEFINITION
Golfers might like this description of their favorite sport: "Golf is a game in which a ball 1 1/2 inches in diameter is placed on another ball 8,000 miles in diameter. The object of the game is to hit the small ball and not the big one."

Do you worry about feeling inferior? Forget it. Psychology tests indicate that smart people often feel inferior, those who are really mentally inferior rarely realize it.

Nature notes: The firefly gives off one of the coolest known forms of light. The ears of fish and snakes have no outside openings—they "hear" through vibrations of the ground or water. Most early spring songs by birds aren't love melodies: they are warning tunes to tell other birds: "I've staked out this nesting area. Go find yourself another one."

It was poet William H. Davies who observed, "The more help a man has in his garden, the less it belongs to him."

TOKYO (AP)—Chief Cabinet Secretary Masayoshi Ohira said Monday Japan will permit the United States to establish a satellite tracking station in Kyushu, southern Japan.

Ohira said the government has no objection to the U.S. project because it will be used for peaceful purposes.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress Janet Leigh returned Sunday from New York, where she was hospitalized last week after falling in her hotel bathroom.

Her actor husband, Tony Curtis, from whom she separated several weeks ago, did not meet her at the airport.

"I'm not disappointed," she said. "I didn't expect him to."

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Dinah Shore will return to Sunday night television next fall.

The Sperry & Hutchinson Co., her sponsors, announced that the singer will do nine shows between October and May in color over Twist has been banned here because of new wrinkles.

The three-member Board of Selectmen outlawed the Twist Monday night because of variations in the dance, which Selectman Clement St. Amand termed "the most vulgar I've seen in my life."

St. Amand said if people can't do the Twist properly "they shouldn't be allowed to do it at all."

Bowing to the decree, officials of the Acushnet Junior High School Parent-Teacher Association agreed to discontinue weekly record hops.

Elmo Smith

view from the State Correctional Institution at Graterford Monday morning.

TALKED WITH GUARDS

Sheriff Peter J. Reilly of Montgomery County said Smith chatted with his guards all through the 200-mile trip on such subjects as the weather. He arrived at Rockview at 10 a.m.

Smith's last meal consisted of potatoes, lima beans, a peach short cake and coffee. He turned down the liver and onions served him. He also refused cigarettes. No special menus are offered those who face execution at Rockview.

Smith was arrested for killing the Mitchell girl on Dec. 30, 1959, two days after the crime occurred.

REPUTATED CONFESSION
Police said he signed a statement admitting that he lured Maryann from a street corner as she waited for a bus after an evening at the movies with friends.

Later he repudiated the alleged confession and at his sentencing, declared: "I am innocent of this case. I never saw her before in my life."

When Judge W. C. Sheely of Adams County concluded his sentence with the words: "May God in his infinite goodness have mercy on your soul," Smith bowed his head and replied:

"Your honor, may God have mercy on all of us."

The trial took place in Adams County because of intense public feeling in the case in Montgomery County.

Smith's execution was the second this year at Bellefonte. On Jan. 29, Frank McCoy, 36, of Philadelphia, was electrocuted for the holdup slaying of a Philadelphia importer.
